Jim Shooter

JIM SHOOTER OUSTED

Jim Shooter was replaced as editor and chief of Marvel Comics on April 15th. Marvel was reportedly unhappy with Shooter's management style.

John Byrne and Frank Miller had left Marvel completely after conflicts with Shooter. It was rumored that Chris Claremont would also leave because of Shooter's interference with his projects. Other top talent in the comic industry had refused to work for Marvel as long as Shooter was in charge.

Shooter's departure was also due to a especially bad year at Marvel. DC had gained solid ground on Marvel with its success on Dark Knight, Superman, and Watchmen. Meanwhile, the explosion of independent publishers had sharply eaten into Marvel's market share on the direct market.

However, it was probably the New Universe project that inevitably nailed the coffin shut. Shooter had diverted valuable talent and resources to the ill-conceived and poorly executed New Universe concept. Although the New Universe was hailed as a project that would reshape Marvel for the next 20 years, many of the titles quickly became an embarrassment to dealers and customers alike. As of this writing four of the eight titles have been cancelled.

Shooter served as editor and chief of Marvel Comics for the last 10 years. Some of his critics claimed that Shooter was more interested in "hype" than substance. Indeed, with the exception of X-MEN or 'NAM, creativity at Marvel seemed to stagnate during Shooter's reign.

Tom DeFalco was named Marvel's new editor and chief. DeFalco is a 15-year veteran of the comic book industry and has been executive editor of Marvel since 1984. DeFalco reported in the June 5th issue of the CBG that since beginning as editor and chief "quite a few people who hadn't done any work for Marvel recently have gotten in touch with me."

One of those people was John Byrne, who will be taking over Star Brand with issue #10. "I won't be picking up the plot threads, because there aren't many," Byrne said in an apparent barb towards Shooter who had created Star Brand as the "flagship" of the New Universe.

DC CLOSE TO SURPASSING MARVEL

According to the latest Capital City Internal Corresponce, DC Comics is close to surpassing Marvel in the Direct Sales Market in dollar totals. In the month of April, DC was less than half a percent apart from Marvel.

It was astonishing that DC was this close to Marvel, since a little over a year ago Marvel was outselling DC by more than a 2 to 1 ratio. Since that time, however, DC has been dominating the industry with hit books like Dark Knight, Superman, Watchmen, Green Arrow, Justice League, Shadow, and Flash. Sales on DC comics were up on all titles including the traditionally slow comics like Wonder Woman, Superman, and Batman.

Meanwhile, Marvel was devastated in 1986 by the New Universe project. Marvel spent huge amounts of capital on this ill-conceived project. With the exception of 'Nam, Marvel was unable to produce any new hot selling books in 1986.

According to Diamond Comic Distributors, "all recent evidence seems to indicate that DC may overtake Marvel and reclaim the top position. The hardest job in the world is to remain number one, because you are the prime target for competitors to shoot at."

At the moment, DC is easily the most aggressive company. At their annual sales meeting, DC announced that they will produce 100 more products than they did in 1986! DC is also planning a huge promotion for Superman's 50th anniversary, including an exhibit at the Smithsonian Institute, a new Superman movie, and major promotions with Burger King, Sears, and Continental Airlines. DC estimates that Americans will see the equivalent of $70 million in TV advertising for Superman products during 1987 and 1988!

It seems a certainty that DC will surpass Marvel in the months of September and October when they release Millennium, a WEEKLY crossover comic that will tie-in with 35 titles! As Diamond Comic stated, "It would seem appropriate that DC would overtake Marvel during Superman's 50th Anniversary year."

$25 MILLION TURTLES DEAL

Kevin Eastman and Peter Laird, the creators of TEENAGE MUTANT NINJA TURTLES, have signed a $25 million licensing agreement with a large toy manufacturer. The licensing agreement will feature a line of Turtle toys as well as a five part Turtles Television series. The Turtle toys will be available this Christmas.

The Turtles television/toy deal is very significant since it represents the ability of small publisher to achieve national exposure and success. Also, readers should note that if the Turtle toys are a marketing success, the value of all Turtle comics will rise substantially!

COMIC MARKET REBOUNDS STRONGLY

The comic market has rebounded sharply in the months of May, June and July. Prices on many new titles are rising rapidly beyond cover price. Elf Warrior, Green Arrow and Lone Wolf and Cub were instant sell-outs. Both Green Arrow and Lone Wolf went to immediate 2nd printings. We have already heard reports of prices as high as $20.00 for Green Arrow #1, $12.00 for Lone Wolf #1, and $6.00 for Elfwarrior #1.

Listed below are the top 10 titles that are experiencing the greatest price increases (in alphabetical order)

- Adventurers
- Concrete
- Elf Warrior
- Green Arrow
- Grips
- Last Generation
- Lone Wolf and Cub
- Nam
- Ninja Elite
- Punisher

All back issues of Nam are very hot. Nam #1 (1st print) is reportedly selling for as high as $20.00 in Toronto, Canada. Last Generation is an excellent new comic that has a lot of potential.

Clearly the comic market is once again experiencing sharp increases in prices. Now is the time to buy, while many of these titles are still affordable. Some of these comics will definitely increase in price for some time. My suggestion is to find your copies now, without delay.

MARKET IN A NUTSHELL

AIRCEL

Warlock 5 is a very hot back issue. Issues 2 - 4 seem to be very hard to find. More and more customers seem to be demanding this excellent new book. Other Aircel titles do not seem to be faring as well. This once semmingly infallible company is no longer the apple of the investors eye.

COMICO

Grendel and Mage back issues are selling very hot. Early Mage issues are becoming very scarce. Elementals and Justice Machine continue to have steady demand. Limited television exposure has caused Robotech sales to fall sharply.

DARK HORSE

This company is selling very strongly, with Concrete leading all other titles. Dark Horse Present issues (with Concrete appearances) are in very high demand. Newer issues of Mecha and American are selling very well.

DC

This company is red hot! Almost every one of their titles are selling briskly. Justice League, Flash, Green Arrow, Doom Patrol, Suicide Squad and Watchmen are all selling great. Sales on DC comics are up on all titles, including the traditionally slow titles like Batman, Superman, and Wonder Woman.

ECLIPSE

The Japanese invasion has made Eclipse a very popular company. Area 88 leads the pack with Mai and Kamui close behind. Airboy and Valkyrie are steady seller. Also, whenever a new issue of Miracleman is relaeased, there is a flurry of back issue demand.

FIRST

There is renewed interest in this quality oriented campany. Lone Wolf is very hot while Mike Grell's success has helped increase demand for early Jon Sable issues. With Howard Chaykin coming back to American Flagg, expect sales to pick up on new issues as well as old.

MARVEL

Nam is selling very briskly. Punisher and GI Joe back issues are in constant demand. The Mutant Massacre storyline has renewed interest in X-Men and X-Factor. The Spiderman wedding and the Last Kraven story has created demand on all Spiderman back issues. Groo continues to sell well as a back issue.

WOLVERINE

MARVEL'S MAN OF GOLD

Throughout all of the comic universe there is only one character whose very appearance equates to money. Only one character who is universally liked (or disliked as the case may be). Only one character who has cause kids to come running at the mere mention of his name. That character is none other than the X-Men Wolverine, everybodys favorite mad man and every investors favorite commodity.

Ever since his first appearance in The Incredible Hulk #180, Wolverine has run around the Marvel Universe creating havok, saving the day and generally putting dollar signs into the eyes of investors. But why is this? Why the universal addiction to this one character? What makes Wolverine special from the myriad of characters who run throughout the medium known as comics? The answer can be found by delving deep into the personality that makes the character who he is.

In his cameo appearance in Hulk #180, Wolverine comes to us in perhaps his most famous (and popular) pose with claws unsheathed. From the very beginning we are introduced to a man who has no fear, a man willing to attempt the impossible (although to him nothing is impossible) and a man who is pretty darn tough to beat. Throughout his history in the Marvel Universe, Wolverine has never officially "lost" a fight. There are some that he hasn't won, but there are none that can be said to be an actual loss. Basically what we have is a personality that is the ideal of every little boy. The kid who can't be beat, who won't turn away from a good scrap . Mind you, though, Wolverine is also a man of many morals. He will never kill another human except in self defense (or to save the life of a team mate): he feels love as evidenced by his continual thoughts about Mariko, his bride that should have been;and he understand the needs of the team, although he fancies himself a loner. Wolverine will give you his life without thinking twice but on the other hand he must deal with the animal part of his personality, that part of which he has no control, the one thing is the world that he genuinely fears. His animal personality is not him, it is (in effect) another thing trapped within his body. Wolverine likes to feel in control, but his animal personality does not allow him such control. Only through much concentration and will power is he able to once again subdue the beast within him. All these things combined make Wolverine one of the most unpredictable characters in the comic universe and therefore one of the most popular. Never knowing for sure how he is going to react also makes Wolverine one of the most (if not the most) popular characters ever created.

So how does all of this equate into dollars and cents. A quick look through any price guide will show that Wolverine appearances are generally higher in price than surrounding issues. A quick list of examples follows:

Alpha Flight	#15,16,18,19 @ $1.50 each
	#17 (Wolverine) @ $2.50
Daredevil	#192 - 195,197 - 207 @ $1.00 each
	#196 (Wolverine) @ $1.50
Hulk	#176-178 @ $3.00 each
	#180 (Wolverine) @ $8.00
	#181 (Wolverine) @ $32.00
	#182 (Wolverine) @ $8.00
	#183-199 @ $1.00 each
Marvel Team-Up
	#101-116 @ $1.00 each
	#117 (Wolverine) @ $3.00
	#118 @ $1.50 each
Web of Spiderman
	#21-28,30 @ $1.25 each
#29 (Wolverine) @ $1.50

As you can see from the few examples, Wolverine is a proven seller. As a back issue he is even better. While we aren't necessarily talking large differences, 25¢ per book over greater back issue sales adds up just as quickly as fewer sales with a greater mark-up.

STAR RANGERS
500 YEARS IN THE FUTURE

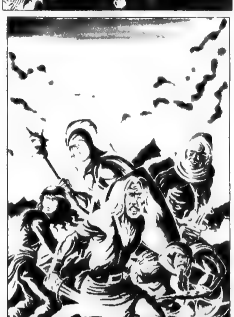
STAR RANGERS, a science fiction adventure book, will be released in October. STAR RANGERS will be set in the year 2487, in a future dominated by ruthless multi-world corporations which oppress individual autonomy.

The Star Rangers are the military/enforcement unit of the Sol Commonwealth. They are responsible for maintaining peace and order on the volatile frontier regions of space. It is on these frontier regions that powerful corporations compete against one another for control of valuable resources and cheap alien labor.

STAR RANGERS will follow the adventures of the starship SABRE and its crew; JONATHON BLAKE, the rugged, resourceful commander; MAYA LUCAS, a former assassin and weapons specialist; ARISTO, a reptilian empath from the Sadeem planet, AHRIKEEM; a deadly warrior from a savage world; and RADAC, an artificial man created and conditioned by the Biotech Corporation.

Unlike most science fiction comic books, the Star Rangers will not be set against an alien invasion. According to writer Mark Ellis, "STAR RANGERS will explore the complicated political and social structure of a future dominated by ruthless multi-world corporations. We have seen the enemy, and it is us!"

STAR RANGERS will be released in October with story by Mark Ellis and art by former Marvel artist Jim Mooney.



ADVENTURERS BOOK II
"THE GRAIL OF DARKNESS"

ADVENTURERS BOOK II will take place several years after the story in ADVENTURERS BOOK I, "The Gate of Chaos". ADVENTURERS BOOK II introduces several new characters and involves a twenty issue story line that forever alters the world of ANORIA.

"The Grail of Darkness" story will begin, once again, in the city of Liam, a city that has changed radically since Book I. This tale centers on Liam's strategic importance to both the Northern Kingdoms and the hostile Southern city-states. According to writer Scott Behnke, the Shadow Alliance, a tenuous alliance between the militaristic Temple of Baal and the fanatical Temple of Accuris, will play a major part in the story.

The story begins as the Temple of Baal presents the Adventurers and several other seasoned mercenaries with an opportunity to gain enormous wealth. Only three of the Adventurers accept this offer. According to Behnke, "Although Book II will still feature the surviving Adventurers from Book I, their roles and motives will be different."

The Temple of Baal's quest will take the Adventurers deep into the treacherous Angora Jungle. Here the Temple of Baal hopes to uncover an ancient structure that contains fabulous wealth, a powerful weapon and terrible danger. Says Behnke, "The survival rate for this mission will be very low!"

ADVENTURERS BOOK II "THE GRAIL OF DARKNESS" will be released in November. Story by Scott Behnke. Art by Kent Burles, and Covers by Peter Hsu.

*NOTE - ADVENTURERS BOOK II will feature two covers. A regular cover by Peter Hsu will feature the five Adventurers. A limited edition cover by Peter Hsu will feature the three characters from the temple of Baal and DIFFERENT pages of art and story. (There will be no re-orders available on the limited edition cover.)
